PRESIDENT'S REPORT

by Rosemary Ulliyot

The holidays are over and it's back to the grind! Somehow, the days are too short and the nights are too long and all the things that needed to get done didn't, but the things that did get done were fun, so what the hey ...

One of the fun things was the annual Christmas Party at OCI. As usual Carol Morrison and her charming and talented staff, Darlene Holtz and John Jackson, pulled it off again and the party was a huge success. The food was wonderful and the desserts divinely decadent. Thank you to all who brought baked goodies.

Extra special thanks to Gord Lindsay who provided music for our party. This is the first time we've had live music and I hope it won't be the last. Thanks Gord, it was great! We were also very lucky to have Maureen Kennedy at the party. Maureen is one of Toronto's most promising jazz singers and it was so fine to have her sing for us.

Please note that it is nomination time again. There are nomination forms with the newsletter. Serving on the executive of THLA is a rewarding and enriching experience. It's a chance to meet new people, work with colleagues and learn new skills. So, nominate a friend, nominate someone you'd like to be a friend, nominate yourself; but get out there and nominate! We need some new blood.

It was with great sorrow that I heard of the death of Eleanor Hayes. Eleanor was a member of THLA back when it was TMLG. I have known her since 1974. She was a gentle and stately woman. I shall miss her very much.

EDITORS' CORNER

by Joanne Collingwood

All the best to everyone for 1992! Hopefully reading this newsletter will give our readers a break from thoughts of dieting, bill-paying, winter blahs, recession, etc., etc.

Our annual Christmas bash was good fun once again and Rosemary has included an account of it in her President's message. Please remember to mark the THLA 1992 meetings in your calendars.

A nominations form for the 1992-93 THLA Executive is also in this issue. As all past and current THLA executives can attest, office holding is, among many things, both rewarding and enjoyable. Our readers are urged to actively participate in the nomination process. Let's give Eva some mail!!

CCHFA STANDARDS

Janet Joyce, CHLA/ABSC liaison to the CCHFA (Canadian Council on Health Facilities Accreditation), wrote to all health library chapters in late October to express concern over a number of proposed changes to CCHFA standards for hospital libraries. The THLA Executive discussed some of these issues at their meeting on November 4th, and drafted a memorandum to CCHFA to lend our voice in protest against most of these proposals. Janet also spoke to these matters at the OHLA Conference in November, and has been keeping in close touch with the CCHFA standards committee on our behalf. Chief among the proposed changes which disturbed us were:

- the addition of word 'preferred' to qualifications standards: "The preferred qualifications of the director of the service include: - Master's degree in library science..."

- in the Standards for Mental Health (Psychiatric) Hospitals and Rehabilitation Centres, the phrase "in small libraries" has been removed, so that the revision indicates that the standard in any library could be the absence of a librarian

- the heirarchical suggestion that library services be a possible principal function of Human Resources.

Correspondence and negotiations on the standards are ongoing. For more information contact Janet Joyce in Ottawa at: (613) 722-6521, ext. 6832/6268. Copies of the THLA memo are available from Madeline Grant at 789-5131, ext. 2353

ISSUES IN INFORMATION MALPRACTICE

Forty-two people attended the information malpractice workshop co-sponsored by THLA and OHLA on November 12th, 1991, in Metro Library Meeting Room D. Marianne Puckett and Pamela Ashley from Louisiana State University used a team teaching approach to present a large body of information on this important and interesting (if somewhat unnerving) topic.

Although there are as yet no reported cases of librarian malpractice, there are several areas where library staff could be vulnerable, and the presenters outlined 22 such areas. The good news is that they then went on to detail an even larger number of prevention techniques for heading off litigation-provoking situations. The detailed handout included the areas of vulnerability, the prevention measures, a glossary of relevant legal terms and an extensive bibliography. A particularly helpful section of the handout was a list of sample disclaimer statements from a number of libraries and research firms.

This is the first time that THLA and OHLA have co-sponsored a workshop. Hopefully its success will pave the way for more such "joint ventures".

COMING EVENTS

ISI EDUCATION & TRAINING SCHEDULE

NEW! ISI is adding ABSTRACTS to Social SciSearch with 1992 data and is offering 2 new seminars.

Attend an ISI on DIALOG full-day session that covers SCISEARCH (Files 34, 434), CURRENT CONTENTS SEARCH (File 440), ARTS & HUMANITIES SEARCH (File 439), and SOCIAL SCISEARCH (File 7). Each field is covered in-depth with particular emphasis on cited references, author keywords, and KeyWords Plus, in addition to searching the abstract field now available in Files 7, 34, 434, and 440.

New this year are two-hour seminars: the Cited Reference Refresher is a review of the whys and hows of cited reference searching. You'll learn how to retrieve citations to ALL of a person's work. Sample search strategies are shown in BRS, Data-Star, DIALOG, and ORBIT command languages.

The Business & Legal Applications Seminar is designed to help you locate experts, monitor competitive research, perform comprehensive subject searches, discover who is citing your research, and more. SciSearch, Social SciSearch and ISTP Search are the databases examined and the strategies are shown using the DIALOG and ORBIT command languages.

All sessions are FREE with pre-registration required at least 4 weeks before the workshop date. Call 1-800-336-4474, extension 1401, Monday - Friday from 9:00 am - 5:00 pm Eastern time to register.

The Toronto health library community has been shocked and saddened by the sudden death of Eleanor Hayes on January 7th, 1992. Eleanor was well known and highly regarded by everyone for her droll sense of humour, her quiet efficiency and her unfailing kindness and selflessness.

Eleanor was Library Assistant at the Academy of Medicine for 12 years, leaving in 1970 to become Librarian at the Mount Sinai Hospital. In the formative years of the Toronto Health Library Association she was influential in providing a more educational role for the association and was very supportive of its social aspects. She devoted countless hours of volunteer time, both before and after her retirement in 1989, to the production of the THLA Union List of Periodicals. In 1989, she was awarded the first THLA Honourary Life Membership in recognition of her outstanding contribution to the Association.

Eleanor will also be remembered for her long-term commitment to both literacy and multiculturalism. Beginning in 1988, she served as volunteer reading tutor with the Toronto ALFA Centre, dispensing warmth and support together with skills.

Friends and colleagues wishing to make donations in Eleanor's memory may choose a favourite charity, the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Toronto ALFA Centre (1900 Davenport Road, Toronto, Ontario M6N 1B7, Telephone 652-3652).

FACES AND PLACES

Rebecca Strange is the new Librarian at Purdue Frederick. Rebecca is an MLS graduate from the University of Western Ontario. She spent the past 3 years with Info Globe as an Information Specialist and is looking forward to meeting THLA members as she launches her career in Health Sciences.

Health Information for All: A Consumer Health Information Service funded by the Health Strategies Fund,
Premier's Council on Health, Well-Being and Social Justice

A joint project of

The Faculty of Library and Information Science, University of Toronto
The Consumers' Association of Canada (Ontario)
The Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library
The Toronto Hospital (General Division)
The Centre for Health Promotion, University of Toronto

The Consumer Health Information Service (CHIS), to be located at the Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library, will act as a central resource for the provision of consumer health information in the province. CHIS will develop an in-depth collection of consumer health information sources in print and electronic forms. Trained reference librarians will be available mid-February 1992 to assist on-site users. The on-site reference service will be available 4 hours a day, including some evening and week-end hours. A 1-800 line will provide weekday access to users outside the Toronto area beginning in April, 1992. The Fudger Medical Library at the Toronto Hospital (General Division) will act as a backup resource library for CHIS and health professionals at the hospital will participate in the evaluation of materials for the collection.

Presently, the provision of consumer health information is falling through the cracks. A great deal of health information is available, but it is difficult for consumers to find out about the sources, to judge their quality and to use them effectively. Through this pilot project, a collaborative model for collecting, evaluating, organizing and disseminating consumer health information will be tested. The impact of information in health care decision-making by consumers will also be explored.

The primary beneficiaries of this project will be Ontario citizens who use the service. CHIS will provide the means for health care consumers to become informed about matters that affect their own health care decisions and those of their family members and friends. CHIS will facilitate the use of existing health information sources through referral. CHIS will also benefit health care organizations and agencies and practising health professionals who require access to consumer health materials. The participation of the Centre for Health Promotion will ensure that wellness information, not only illness information, is available.

If you would like additional information about CHIS, please contact Susan Murray or Sharon Taylor at the Consumer Health Information Service, Metropolitan Toronto Reference Library, 789 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario, M4W 2G8. Voice (416) 393-7056. Fax (416)393-7229.
